Art Unit:

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S. C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 12-13, 15, 16, 20, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(B) as being anticipated by Proudler European patent Application EP 0740482A1.

Regarding Claims 12-13, 15, 16, 20, Proudler teaches a cordless communication system for the operation of a mobile terminal of a mobile communication system with a base station that is connected to a public fixed network and that is compatible at an air interface with the mobile communication system that has at least one authentication function, comprising:

a read/write unit within a base station, the read/write unit configured to read and write information from and to, respectively, at least one identification module, wherein sections of data of the identification module used in the base station are identical to sections of data on a chip card of an access-authorized mobile terminal; and software implemented in the base station for processing of data read from the identification module and for authenticating the mobile terminal relative to the base station through the processed data, wherein the base station fulfills the same functions and tasks as the home location register and, respectively, the authentication center of the mobile communication system (See figure 1 numerals 17, 12, 18, 65, 26, Column 1 lines 50-57, Column 5 lines 1-46).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 22, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Proudler European patent Application EP 0740482A1.

Regarding Claim 22, Proudler teaches fails to teach a cordless communication system wherein the predetermined standard is selected from the group consisting of ISO ID-1, ID-000, DCS 1800, and PCS 1900. However a cordless communication system wherein the predetermined standard is selected from the group consisting of ISO ID-1, ID-000, DCS 1800, and PCS 1900 is well known in the art. Therefore, it have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use above teaching to Proudler, in order to provide a system that can be operational with variety of different networks.

Art Unit:

6. Claims 14, 17-19, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Proudler European patent Application EP 0740482A1 in view of VU (US Patent Number 6,156436B1).

Regarding Claim 14, Proudler does not mention that a method further comprising storing other data on the identification module and the other data including allowed frequencies, a maximum permitted output powers for the base station and the mobile terminal, allowed services, and initialization parameters which a network carrier desires to influence and which constitute a general framework for the operation of the base station of the cordless communication system. However Vu teaches a method of wireless communication that comprising storing date on the identification module in a which includes allowed frequencies, a maximum output powers for the base station and the mobile terminal allowed services, and initialization parameters which a network carrier desires to influence and which constitute a general framework for the operation of the base station of the cordless communication system (Column 5 lines 15-27). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use above teaching of Vu to Proudler, in order to enable the user easily use various cell phones with a single SIM card and maintain their preferred system parameter.

Regarding Claims 17-19, Proudler fails to teach a method further comprising programming a timer within the base station to a predetermined time by a network carrier, and automatically resetting the timer by a subscriber if an authorized use occurs, wherein the base station, if not used after the predetermined time has lapsed, loses authorization to operate a transmitter at frequencies assigned to the mobile communication system. However Vu teaches a method of communication that comprising a timer within the base station to a predetermined time by a network carrier, and automatically resetting the timer by a subscriber if an authorized use occurs, wherein the base station, if not used after the predetermined time has lapsed, loses authorization to operate a transmitter at frequencies assigned to the mobile communication system (Column 5 lines 15-65). Therefore, it have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use above teaching of Vu to Proudler, in order to efficiently and reliably prevent fraudulent use.

Conclusion
